EVA WERTZ TESTIFIES SHE SAW BEVARD MURDER HER GRANDMOTHER

Attorney Smythe Says Evidence Will Show Young Girl Herself Killed Mrs. Frances Wertz

Effort Made on Cross Examination to Impeach Testimony of Eva Wertz This Afternoon

DEFENDANT HIMSELF TO TAKE WITNESS STAND

Statements of Prosecutor and Lawyers for Defense Tues- day Followed by Testimony--State's Star Witness Eva Wertz Being First to be Examined-- Large Crowd Present in Court.

MISS EVA WERTZ.

proves beyond a reasonable doubt that Levi Bevard killed this woman.

Levi Bevard standing before his honor, the judge, heard this indictment read and told the court that he was "not guilty."

His counsel now repeat to you that he is "not guilty." You must not, you cannot lawfully expect him to prove his innocence.

The law requires that his accusers shall produce reliable, trustworthy evidence, such as to convince you twelve men that there is no reasonable uncertainty that Bevard killed Frances Wertz.

The "proof" will not show that he knew anything about the tragedy in anyway until the day next after it occurred. It is not therefore in his power to aid you much by his testimony.

He will, however, voluntarily go upon the witness stand and will tell you such a state of facts which will show you that he is falsely accused.

Levi Bevard is twenty-nine years old. His parents and many of his relatives are Licking county people, but he and a younger brother were born in Iowa. In 1900 his mother died, his father was growing old and desiring to return to his earlier home in Licking county, with his three sons, William, Levi and Stephen in the month of August, 1903, he started from their home in Palo Alto county, Iowa, to come to Ohio.

They arrived in McKean township, September 4, 1903. Shortly after their arrival the boys procured work cutting timber near the home of Frances Wertz. They rented a cabin near their place of work and there the father and three sons lived, the boys doing the housework and taking care of the father and working in the timber.

About the 1st of February, 1904, James Wertz, husband of Frances Wertz, left his home and went to another county. Mrs. Wertz and her daughter Rose Wertz, now Rose Bevard, lived alone at the old lady's home, and the old woman induced Levi to come to her house to do such work as should be done by a man about farm premises.

Levi remained at the home with Mrs. Wertz and her daughter Rose for a period of three weeks. During that time Rose became enamored of Levi, and Levi became enamored of Rosa, and they became engaged to marry.

They were married on March 19, 1904. Shortly before the marriage Levi was employed by William Hall to work on his farm about three miles west of Newark on the Granville road.

Mr. Hall provided Levi with a house on his farm in which to dwell with his new wife. The newly married couple moved into this home about the 20th day of March and lived there together until Levi was put in prison over a year ago. At the time of the old lady's death, May 31, 1905, the father, old Mr. Bevard, Levi Bevard, and his wife, Rosa and their child, and the son Stephen, lived in this house.

Levi worked on the Hall farm and Stephen was employed at the Wehrle works. The old father, Alexander Bevard, was crippled, unable to get about, and consequently he spent all of his time in the house at home. The house was a small one situated on the south side of the Granville road fronting on the road. It consisted of four rooms, to-wit: a front room, a sitting room, and on the east side of the sitting room a small bed room, and on the south side of the sitting room a kitchen.

Philadelphia, June 12.—At the interstate commerce commission's resumption of the probe of the coal industry and railroads this morning, Commissioner Cockrell said the Presidents of the various coal carrying roads would be invited to explain at the end of the present investigation the relations that may have existed between them and any coal or oil companies. No subpoenas would be issued for the presidents of the railroads to appear and it will be optional with them whether they accept the commission's invitation which will be sent out tomorrow. June 21 is suggested as the date for the appearance of the head officials of the coal roads.

CHAS. TUCKER DIES IN CHAIR

MURDERER OF MABEL PAGE IS ELECTROCUTED EARLY THIS MORNING.

Declares That He is Innocent and Asks Forgiveness for All His Wrongs.

Boston, June 12.—Charles L. Tucker was electrocuted in state prison at Charlestown for the murder of Mabel Page at Weston March 31, 1904. When Tucker arrived in front of the death chair he drew from his trousers pocket a brief statement, which he read. The statement was: "I hope that God will forgive me for all the wrongs I have ever done in my past life. I forgive everybody who has wronged me. I am at peace with my Maker. May God have mercy on my soul." Three applications of the current were made and at 12:19 Tucker was pronounced dead. Tucker left a letter in which he said: "I have nothing to confess. I am entirely innocent. I have been asked, if guilty, to confess, but to the people that asked me I have said: 'I have nothing to confess; do you want me to tell a lie?' I am sorry for my dear parents. My last words to you are that I am innocent, and they will be the last words that I will have on my lips when I die."

LAWYER PATRICK IS REFUSED NEW TRIAL

New York, June 12.—Recorder Call has denied a motion for a new trial in the case of Lawyer Patrick convicted of the murder of Millionaire Rice, but as telegraphed the Advocate yesterday, Patrick's lawyers were prepared to the decision and have papers ready for application to the United States Supreme court for a writ of error and for a writ of habeas corpus. These applications will again delay the carrying out of the death sentence and make the fifth postponement for Patrick who has now been in the death house over four years. The last reason to save Patrick will be an application to Governor Higgins for commutation of the death sentence.

FORAKER WINS FIGHT TODAY

Statehood Bill Will Now Be Changed to Meet His Views.

ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO

TO BE ONE STATE AND PEOPLE OF N. M. AND ARIZONA TO VOTE.

If Majority Favors Union Constitutional Convention Will Then be Held in Southwest.

(Bulletin.)
Washington, June 12.—Senator Foraker won his statehood fight in the Senate today. Mr. Beveridge moved to withdraw the report of the conference committee on the statehood bill upon which Foraker, with a majority of the Senate at his back, was preparing to make a fight. The motion carried. The conferees of the House and Senate under agreement will now change the bill so as to meet Foraker's views. Oklahoma and Indian Territory are to be admitted jointly. On November 6 the people of Arizona and New Mexico are to vote separately on the question of whether these territories shall be joined as one state and at the same time vote for delegates to a constitutional convention. If a majority of either territory votes against the union the constitutional convention is not to meet.

CALIFORNIA

Sends Committee to Washington Seeking Aid From National Government.

Washington, June 12.—The California committee which is to enlist the aid of the national government toward the rehabilitation of San Francisco arrived here. It is composed of Judge W. W. Morrow, Thomas Magee, F. J. Lane, Dr. Edward Devine of the Red Cross, W. J. Barnett and F. M. Willis. The city of San Francisco has $14,000,000 unissued 3½ per cent bonds. It is proposed by the committee that they be made receivable for national bank deposits by the general government, in which case they can be sold by the city at par. The money realized from the sale of the bonds will, Judge Morrow said, be used in the construction of municipal buildings, schoolhouses, jails and other necessary buildings. The other proposition which will require the action of congress is the loan of $10,000,000 to the National Red Cross society for use in loaning to those persons whose homes have been destroyed for the purpose of reconstructing them.

GIRL DISCHARGED BY COURT'S ORDER

Josephine Terranova Paroled Today—Italian Countess Provides Home For the Girl.

New York, June 12.—Josephine Terranova was liberated today. Proper assurance having been given that the girl would be cared for, Assistant District Attorney Ely moved the dismissal of the indictment against her for killing her uncle. An Italian countess who asked that her name be withheld, promised to provide a home for the girl and see that she is properly educated. It is reported that the girl's benefactress is Countess Annie Leary, whose title was conferred by Pope Leo XIII. because of her great charity toward poor Italians in this city. On leaving the criminal court's building Josephine was driven in a closed carriage to the residence of Archbishop Farley. Her sisters, brother-in-law and a Catholic priest made the trip with the girl. The girl's husband was waiting at Farley's house to see Josephine. Father Farley, the archbishop's secretary, had arranged a meeting with the girl and effected a reconciliation and the girl was advised to see her mother and father and to live with them.

WEAPONS IN COURT.
A dramatic incident of the morning session of the Bevard case was the entrance into the court room of Robert Zergibel of the local police force, bearing in his hands a pitchfork and a club. The former is the weapon alleged to have been used by Mrs. Frances Wertz when she is said to have gone down the stairway to rout a marauder. The latter is said to have been the sledge standard with which Mrs. Wertz was killed. The two weapons were placed on the prosecutor's table and were later introduced in evidence, no objections being made by the defense.

At 9 o'clock Tuesday morning the Bevard case was resumed in Common Pleas court before Judge C. W. Seward.

The court room was crowded, many women being present.

"Are you ready, Mr. Smythe?" asked the court.

"We are, your honor."

"The State may state its case," said the court.

Prosecutor Fitzgibbon then read the indictment and stated his case.

He said he expected to prove that Frances Wertz was an aged woman, about 65, and that Levi Bevard had married her daughter, Rosa. That this marriage was violently opposed by the deceased, and that she never allowed the defendant to him from the time of the marriage until the time of her death.

That about two weeks before the murder, Mrs. Frances Wertz gave to her daughter Rosa, $100, which she requested her to put in the Licking County Bank, and get a certificate of deposit; that this money was not placed in said bank until after the death of Mrs. Wertz, and that part of it was used by Levi Bevard and his wife, Rosa.

That Mrs. Wertz and her granddaughter, Eva, went to bed about 8:30 or 9 the night of May 31, 1905, leaving a vicious shepherd dog in the kitchen below. That about midnight the two women heard noises below, and that Mrs. Wertz with Eva, started down the stairway and tried to open the door at the bottom of the stairway, but were met with resistance; that Mrs. Wertz called to Eva to shoot for help and that Eva saw Levi Bevard strike the old lady on the head with a sledge standard.

en and on the east side of the kitchen a small bed room. There was a porch on the south side of the building. A short distance, perhaps 40 feet south of the house, was a stable. The bed room adjoining the kitchen was occupied by Levi, his wife and their child, Alexander Bevard, the father, also occupied this bed room. He was crippled and he was in such a condition as to be almost helpless. He could not dress or undress himself without assistance. He could not arise from his bed or turn over his body in bed without assistance. He was afflicted in a way incident to old age which made it necessary that he should frequently be assisted at night out of bed, to comply with the demands of nature. Levi took care of his father. He dressed and undressed him, assisted him to his bed and out of his bed.

To enable Levi to perform this filial duty to his afflicted and helpless old father, a single bed or cot was located at the foot of the bed which Levi and his wife occupied, and the cot was arranged that the father could take hold of Levi's foot and thus make known to him when he desired assistance, to get out of bed or to be shifted in bed.

The baby occupied a cradle on the side of Levi and his wife's bed. Stephen occupied the other bed room. Levi at that time had a horse and buggy which was used to take Stephen to and from his work at the Wehrle foundry. Generally Rosa took Stephen in the buggy to his work in the morning, and went after him in the evening to take him home. Rosa did this instead of Levi so that Levi could give his attention to his farm work.

On the evening of the 31st of May Levi drove the mare to Newark and to the stable of John Baird. He drove the mare on this evening from his home to Newark on the Granville road to Tenth street and thence south on Tenth street in the direction of the Wehrle foundry for the purpose of meeting Stephen to take him home after his day's work was over. Levi met Stephen and together they rode in the buggy to Mr. Baird's place. The next day Levi and Stephen rode out of the alley to Fifth street and from thence to the Granville road and to their home on Mr. Hall's farm on the Granville road. Or account of the business transaction they did not reach home until about 1 o'clock. Now, gentlemen of the jury, Levi Bevard did not leave his home or that night. During all of that night and until the morning of the next day he was at home with his father, with his wife and his child and his brother Stephen.

He was at his own home when this awful death occurred in McKean township, eleven miles away from his home. He knew nothing of the death of his aunt until about 10 o'clock of the next morning after it occurred. At the time he heard of it he was at work on the Hall farm. A daughter of Mr. Arthur Powell carried the sad news to Levi's home and as soon thereafter as he could, Levi hitched his mare to his buggy and took his wife with him to his aunt's house where she lay dead. The evidence will show that his conduct was that of an innocent man.

He did not, gentlemen of the jury, he did not do this deed.

He is a sane man, and there was no motive on his part to do it.

He is a sober man, and he was never frenzied with strong drink.

Levi Bevard was a sane man, a sober man, and a good natured and not a gossamer man.

The evidence will tend to prove that he or she who did this deed was either insane, or was frenzied by liquor, or that it was the act of one defending himself or herself from attack, which the woman made upon her or upon him in an effort to punish her or to drive him from her house—perhaps to do both.

The evidence will not show that Levi Bevard had any motive to do this awful deed. The evidence will not show that the man who went in (if a man did go in) that house that night, did so, to kill, unless the deed was done by one having a homicidal mania to kill by an insane man, or by one temporarily insane from drink.

The man who went in (if a man did go in) that house that night did not do so to commit robbery.

If the deed was done by a female person, it was done in a terrible effort to defend herself from a vicious attack which was made by the woman.

The evidence will prove, gentlemen of the jury, that the old lady kept a watch dog, which was alert and quick to make a great noise at the unexpected approach of a person to her house.

The proof will be that on that night the dog did not make any noise, and it will tend to prove that if a man went in that house that night, he was let in the house by some one who was in the inside of the house.

The evidence will show that after Rosa and Levi were married, a girl by the name of Eva Wertz came to the home of Frances Wertz to live. She was the daughter of Jack Wertz, who was a "blood relation," being a son of Frances Wertz. The girl and the woman were living together several months before and on the night of the woman's death.

Before the girl came to the home of Frances Wertz to live, she had lived for several years with Margaret Williams, a widow, and her two unmarried sons, Emory Williams and William Williams. These men were "blood relations," being nephews of Frances Wertz and cousins of Eva Wertz.

Adjoining the Wertz farm was a man by the name of Wes. Wright. He was a "blood relation," and there were other blood relations living in Sodom.

The evidence will show that about 12:30 on the morning of the 1st of June this girl, Eva Wertz, came to the house of John Schimpf about a quarter of a mile distant from the Wertz home. She awakened Schimpf and his wife and told them "some one" had broken in the house and was beating her grandmother with a club. That "some one" held the stair door closed by pushing on the top of the door; that she only saw a man's arm, shoulder and one leg; that he had on a white shirt, black pants and black vest; and that some one broke in the house and was killing her grandmother. She said that she did not know who it was, and that she did not see the face of the man.

During this trial the locality and community where this tragedy occurred will be referred to as Sodom. Some one who had read of what a wicked place Sodom was and how God had destroyed it because of its wickedness, christened it Sodom. This locality is located eight or nine miles northwest of Newark in McKean township. Levi Bevard at the time of the Mrs. Wertz death lived on the Granville road, eleven or twelve miles away from Sodom. There in Sodom this tragedy occurred.

It is shrouded in mystery, deep and unfathomable mystery, the facts of which are known to a person or persons other than Levi Bevard, who are still at large.

Levi Bevard now again declares to you, gentlemen of the jury, that he is "not guilty."

On the morning next after the death of the old lady an insane man was captured about three miles north of the Wertz home. His clothing, or a part of them, were found hidden under some brush. This clothing had blood spots scattered over it. The man declared that he was charged with murder and that a reward was offered for his capture. He was a stranger. He had not been seen in these parts before. The stranger was taken to the county jail several days after Levi Bevard was out in the jail. On the morning following the day Levi was put in jail this insane man committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor.

The evidence will show that this insane rover was at the house of Mrs. Stewart for something to eat, that he had been out all night the night before.

The evidence will show a reasonable theory or hypothesis as to how and by whom the woman came to her death, a theory which is consistent with the innocence of Levi Bevard.

That reasonable theory is that Miss Wertz struck the blows which resulted in the woman's death; that she struck the blows defending herself from a vicious assault which was made upon her by the old lady; that a man, perhaps a "blood relation," was in the Wertz house that night; that the family had a vicious dog which the woman was in the habit of keeping in her kitchen at night and that on the night of the 31st of May, 1905, she as usual put the dog in the kitchen before she retired to bed; that she went to bed in her bed room in the second story of the house and that she also compelled the girl to go to bed; that when she went up stairs to her room she fastened the stair door by hooking it on the inside of the stairway; that in addition to having the dog in the kitchen at night she had otherwise prepared for her defense by putting the hook on the inside of the stairway so as to keep an intruder from getting into the stairway and into the rooms above the kitchen; that she had gathered in the upstairs rooms for the purpose of defending herself there should an intruder break through the stair door and attempt to get there; a pitchfork, a corn cutter, and the tub with which she was killed; that she had made other careful preparations to prevent an intruder from reaching the top of the stairway.

To support this theory the evidence will show that while the old lady was asleep that night, a prowler came to her house and to the kitchen; that the dog well knew the prowler and for that reason he did not bark or growl but on the contrary he welcomed the man in the house, because he had often and recently been there before; that the man who was perhaps a blood relation got into the kitchen not by violently breaking in and thus alarming the dog, but he was let in by some one from the inside (not the old lady) either through the west kitchen window or through the door on the east side of the kitchen; that the woman soon after going to bed went to sleep and thereafter being awakened she discovered that the girl had gotten out of bed and that she had gone out of the bed room and down the stairway; that the woman understanding the situation knowing "what was up" got out of bed and with a pitchfork in her hand went down the stairs to search for the girl and to drive off the intruder; that she then did not think that the intruder was some desperate person seeking for her life or to do her bodily harm and that she went to where the man was because she had no such fear; that the old lady went into the kitchen with her pitchfork and the man escaped out of the house; that when he was gone she fastened the east door by putting a table against it and that she then fastened the other door of the kitchen so that it could not be opened from the other side by jolting the prongs of the pitchfork into it and by bracing the other end of the fork against the floor of the kitchen.

The evidence will further tend to prove that while the woman was engaged in fastening the doors the girl escaped into the stairway and hooked the stair door between herself and the woman.

The evidence will also show that the dog ran into the stairway out of the kitchen up the stairs, into the rooms above before the woman was killed.

The evidence will further tend to prove that the woman finding the stair door fastened between herself and the girl, and being balked and thwarted in her purpose to chastise the girl, became infuriated and getting one of her case knives attempted to cut out the staple to which the hook was attached in the door and failing in this she dropped the knife on the floor and seized the door by the knob and tugged and pulled until she got it opened.

The evidence will show that the old lady was coarse and violent in her treatment of the girl, and that the girl had reason to fear serious bodily harm if the woman in her anger succeeded in getting near enough to strike and beat her, and the girl being frightened and excited and having reason to believe that the woman was after her with the pitchfork and that she would strike her with the handle or job her with the prongs, and being hemmed in so that she could not escape seized the club, rushed in the stairway and struck at and hit the woman as she was coming up the stairs.

EVA WERTZ TESTIMONY.

Eva Wertz was the first witness out on the stand by the State.

She stated she was 15 years old and in May, 1905, was living with her grandmother, Mrs. Frances Wertz; that there was a dog there of a very vicious disposition; that Levi Bevard worked at the Wertz home the winter before she went there; that he did the feeding, got the wood and did other chores; that he was married to Rosa Wertz in April, 1904. The witness did not know where he was living at the time.

The prosecutor asked what the feeling of Mrs. Wertz toward Levi Bevard. This was vigorously objected to by the defense, and the objection was sustained on the ground that witness could have no knowledge of the feelings of some one else. The witness said that defendant was not allowed about the place by Mrs. Wertz.

An argument ensued upon asking the witness as to the whereabouts of Stephen Bevard. The defense objected to the question on the ground that Stephen was not connected with the case, and was not mentioned in the indictment. The court sustained the objection of the defense.

Mr. Fitzgibbon stated that he expected to prove that Stephen was connected with the crime. Mr. Smythe objected to any such statements before the jury.

The witness said that she saw her grandmother give Rosa Bevard money, $100 in amount. The court ruled that any conversation at this time unless in the presence of Levi Bevard could not be related.

Rosa was let out of the buggy and came into the house, Levi driving on at this time. Continuing witness said: "I talked to Rosa and Levi about the money, as grandma became uneasy about the matter, as there had been no certificate of deposit, given her from the Licking County bank or any other bank, as had been requested by Mrs. Wertz when she gave Rosa the money. The conversation was at the home of Levi Bevard. Rosa said the money had been deposited in the Licking County bank, and I asked to see the certificate of deposit, and she refused, saying that she would take the certificate to grandma herself."

"I went to Levi's on the Monday previous to grandma's death, carrying a note from Mr. Hoover to Stephen Bevard. Grandmother sent me to Mr. Hoover's to get this note."

"I went to Bevard's in a buggy; Levi, Rosa and Alexander Bevard were there. I left the note and asked that if he delivered to Stephen when he came home. We then talked about the $100 and Rosa said she would take the certificate to grandma. Levi said nothing."

"I told them that Stephen Bevard had borrowed $10 from the bank and had given a note signed by grandma, which she had not signed; that she said if it was not fixed up she would have him arrested. I then came to Newark."

"While at Bevard's Levi was teasing me about my father's drinking, and to get even, I threw up to him about grandma's not allowing him about her house, and he said that if grandma got too smart when he came there, she would do it to her sorrow."

"On the night of May 31, we went to bed about 9 or 9:30 o'clock; had done the general housework during the day."

"Was in the kitchen early in the evening. When preparing to go to bed we locked the house, started up stairs and pulled the door. We also placed a chair with a wood box upon it in front of the west window."

"There was one light out of this window, which Levi said he had taken out after coming home from a dance with Rosa."

"When we went to bed we left the dog in the kitchen."

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Promptly at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon Judge Seward ordered the examination of Eva Wertz to proceed, and Mr. Fitzgibbon went on with his questioning of the witness.

The girl said that she and her grandmother heard noises. "We did not get up at once," continued the witness, "but finally grandmother said, 'Let's get up.' I had on an undershirt. We got up and I took a lamp and followed her down the stairway. I saw Levi Bevard strike grandma over the head twice with a club. I ran up the stairway and jumped out of the window upon the roof of a portico and from there to the ground. I ran to Henry Foster's and told them that they were killing grandma."

"They asked who was doing it and I said that it was a blood relation. Several of us then went back to the house and discovered the body."

"I had a conversation with Bevard and Rosa near the barn after the murder. His wife faints, and he said to me 'Who do you think did it?' 'I said, 'I don't think who did it, but I know. It was you.' He said, 'How was he dressed?' I responded that he was dressed in dark suit and a derby hat. He said that if I told that he would kill me at the first chance he got."

The witness here identified a pitchfork shown her by Mr. Fitzgibbon, as the one used as a weapon by her grandmother.

The witness said that she returned to the house the next morning with Coroner Legge; that the stairway and door were covered with blood, a lamp was sitting on the stairway the chimney being broken, and she noticed also a club lying there. The witness here identified a sledge stake as shown her by the prosecutor as the weapon she saw in the hands of Levi Bevard, when he struck Mrs. Wertz.

"Grandmother was killed Wednesday night and I came to Newark the next Monday with Chief Sheridan, Coroner Legge and Mr. James Mills."

Cross examined by Mr. B. G. Smythe, Miss Eva said: "I spoke to the prosecuting attorney since testifying in the morning after the adjournment."

Witness was examined as to where she lived after her mother's death which occurred when she was three years old. She said she had lived at her grandmother's for 14 months, that James Wertz, her grandfather, had left home for a visit to Morrow county. He and grandmother had frequent quarrels.

The witness identified the sledge standard, and was then shown an other club or standard, much larger than the one which she said she had seen in the hands of Levi Bevard when her grandmother was struck. She said she did not remember ever having seen the one shown her by Mr. Smythe, and did not remember whether or not she had testified before the mayor that there were three standards in the sledge. She thought there were four standards in the sledge, which she had used that day.

An attempt was made by Mr. Smythe to show that Eva's testimony at present varied materially from that given before Mayor Crilly. "I testified before Coroner Legge but don't remember whether I said there was some target shooting or not; think I testified that we heard noises three nights before."

Attorney Smythe: "If you testified before the coroner that there was some target shooting you testified falsely, didn't you?"

"There was no target shooting."

"What do you say now?"

"I say there was no target shooting done. Dr. Legge asked me whether I had anything to do with this crime, and I said that I was innocent."

"Wasn't your grandmother cross and ill-natured?"

"She was not quarrelsome to me but has scolded me on certain occasions, and had also whipped me."

DEFEATS ADDICKS.

Colonel Dupont Wins Delaware's Seat in the Senate.

Dover, Del., June 12.—Colonel Henry A. Dupont of Wilmington defeated J. Edward Addicks in the contest for the vacancy from Delaware in the United States senate. Mr. Dupont was selected to fill the vacancy by a caucus of the Republican members of the legislature. The action of the caucus ends a contest that has continued for 11 years, during which time Addicks was the candidate of the Union Republicans for United States senator. The legislature meets today in special session, and each house will take a separate vote for United States senator, and the two houses will meet jointly on Wednesday to verify the vote. When the vote was finally taken it stood: Dupont, 20; Addicks, 10. H. H. Ward, 1. Following the announcement of the vote Senator Connor, an Addicks supporter, made a motion that Dupont's selection be made unanimous, which was adopted.

Governor Ide dedicated the new high school at Lucena, province of Tayabas. He delivered a short address, advising the people to educate their children.

CHILD FALLS INTO WELL AND DROWNS

WOMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED IN RUNAWAY CAUSED BY AN AUTOMOBILE.

Pope-Chaffant Wedding Wednesday—Adelman Baker's Funeral—Beech Woods Budget.

Thornville (Beech Woods), June 12.—A three year old child of George Thorne of Rushville met its sad fate by falling into a well 40 feet deep. It had been playing near the place when last seen, and after being missed for some time, a search was made, and the body of the child was discovered by digging the well.

The funeral of Adelman Baker who died at the age of 77 years, was held in the M. E. church at Bruno Friday. His pastor, Rev. Mr. Griffith of Thornville delivered the discourse for the occasion. He commanded the love and respect of all who knew him. The Masonic lodge of which he was a member turned out in a body at the obsequies.

The beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Chaffant was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday at high noon. On this occasion Mr. Chaffant gave his oldest daughter, Miss Gertrude, to Edgar Pope in the presence of over 200 guests, the impressive ring ceremony being performed on the front veranda by the Rev. George S. Gill of Somerset. A bountiful wedding dinner was served after which the happy couple left for Mammoth Cave Ky. They took their departure amid a shower of rice, oranges and old shoes, the rear of the cab being strung with frying pans, an old rooster and a bird cage. A large sign which read "The ways of the newly wed" was a decoration. It is evident from the collection found along the roadside to the station that they discovered what was exciting the mirth of all the jolly crowd that took the special pains to see them off safely. Mr. and Mrs. Pope will make their future home in Columbus, O., where Mr. Pope is a valued employee of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co. They will also visit Mr. Pope's parents in Racine, Wis., for a few days. Many beautiful and useful presents were received as testimonials of the high esteem in which the happy couple are held by their many friends.

Mrs. Shough and daughter Lulu of near Rushville, while on their way to Lancaster, met with a painful accident. Their horse became frightened at the proximity of an automobile, ran away, upsetting the occupants and seriously injuring Mrs. Shough, tearing up the rig and killing the horse.

The removal of John M. Pattison from the Cincinnati hospital to his home at Milford on Monday was an event that was accomplished in a highly satisfactory manner. The Governor stood the trip splendidly and manifested the best of spirits to all around him. It has been his desire for weeks to get back to his old home and the change promises immediate beneficial results. The Governor's successful return to his home is an event that gives encouragement to the many thousands of people of all parties who desire his complete recovery.

Colonel Henry Algernon Dupont, of the powder trust and a railroad president, has at last received a clear caucus nomination to the vacant Delaware senatorship and will be elected as a Republican to the seat he has coveted only less long than the unspeakable Addicks, who is now certainly sent to the stable. Dupont will be just as much of a trust senator as Addicks, but he has not acquired the notorious record for crookedness that the latter possesses.

Slater Ousted by Force.

Mark Slater, the State printer, who was removed from office by Governor Pattison by the appointment of J. W. Johnson, started in to resist the Governor's authority and had to be removed bodily from the office by force. Slater is pretty low type of machine politician which is the kind that dies hard when ousted by the people. There are more like him who will have to go when Governor Pattison gets a little farther along in the recovery of his health. To their credit, the large majority of decent Republicans are shedding no tears over the removal from office of the Mark Slater class of Herrick's appointees.

Hy. D. Davis, State fire marshal, was more graceful in surrendering his office to Governor Pattison's new appointee, Mr. D. S. Creamer, of St. Clairsville, than Mark Slater, the late State printer. Davis showed the good sense to turn his office over in a manner that did him credit, and his action was in marked contrast to that of Slater, the State printer.

The State election in Oregon shows that there are a good many independent voters there as well as in some other States which last fall elected Democratic governors while electing Republicans to other offices. The Democratic governor of Oregon is re-elected by a good plurality, while Republicans are chosen to fill other offices. Parties long in power and kept there by overwhelming majorities which make possible the election of anybody on the ticket can not be depended upon to administer government with a view to the best interests of the people.

STATEHOOD AGREEMENT

Republican Leaders of Congress Effect a Compromise.

END SIX-YEAR CONTROVERSY

House Committee on Agriculture Discusses the Beveridge Meat Inspection Proposition — Senator LaFollette's Attack Proves Futile—Rate Bill in the House.

Washington, June 12.—The Carter compromise on the statehood bill was agreed upon by Republican leaders on the senate and house. Nothing now stands in the way of the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as a state and a choice by Arizona and New Mexico as to whether they desire to come in as another state. It is expected that the pending conference report will be recommitment or withdrawn when it comes up and an amended report returned to both houses embodying the compromise. In this way the discussion of a question that has been before congress almost continuously for six years will be ended.

The Beveridge beef inspection proposition was discussed by house committee on agriculture for six hours. It is understood the committee found itself generally in favor of striking out of the Beveridge amendment the requirement that the wheels on the cans containing prepared meat products shall bear the date of manufacture. The problem of federal jurisdiction to enforce sanitary regulations, on which the question of constitutionality was raised, has a tentative solution at least in a proposition to have all labels for every kind of meat product, canned or otherwise, issued by the secretary of agriculture and attached to the product only after such sanitary regulations have been complied with and approval given by government inspectors. These government labels are then to be the passport of the meat products into interstate and foreign markets, and common carriers are forbidden to accept for shipment consignments of goods without official government labels. This provision, like all others, is only in the tentative stage.

In the senate Senator LaFollette made the statement that he had been informed that an assistant to the commissioner of the Five Civilized tribes had assisted a legal firm in preparing the Indian roll, and had then passed upon the roll in his official capacity. He also said that a brother-in-law of the senator who had reported the legislation preparing a court system for Indian Territory had been appointed a member of the court thus created. These statements were made by the Wisconsin senator in a speech in opposition to the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill. The report was accepted, however, regardless of the opposition of the other senators, the expression of which consumed the greater part of the session. The railroad rate bill will be sent to conference by the house. The committee on rules has been called to meet and a special rule returning the rate bill to conference without discussion in the house will be brought in. Under the rules there will be 40 minutes' debate on the rule, but none is to be held on the conference report.

House Proceedings.

Washington, June 12.—After nearly four hours spent in the consideration of legislation affecting the interests of the District of Columbia the house resumed consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill. An amendment was adopted permitting the appointment of retired officers of the corps of engineers, United States army, as members of the international waterways commission, as provided for in the river and harbor bill creating this commission. The house in committee of the whole refused to make an additional appropriation for marking the places where American soldiers fell and were temporarily interred in Cuba and China on the ground that it was bad precedent.

Jumped the Track.

New York, June 12.—One man was killed and more than 20 persons injured when the locomotives and two cars of an Atlantic City express train on the Central Railroad of New Jersey jumped the track at a switch at Eatontown, N. J. George Van Duzer, a vaudeville musician of New York, was killed, and Mrs. A. Dunlap of Chicago suffered bruises and a shock. Most of the others injured were New Yorkers, and their injuries are not regarded as dangerous.

Three Cases of Yellow Jack.

New Orleans, June 12.—The fact that three cases of yellow fever have been under quarantine for the past 10 days at Ship Island, a government quarantine station in the Gulf of Mexico, about midway between the mouth of the Mississippi river and Mobile, was made public by Dr. C. H. Iron, president of the Louisiana state board of health.

INDICTMENTS AT NEW YORK

Grand Jury Finds Against Two Former Officials of Mutual.

BOTH ARE HELD FOR TRIAL

Forgery and Perjury Alleged Against Dr. W. G. Gillette and Forgery and the Filing of False Statements Against Robert A. Granniss — Both Furnish Bail.

New York, June 12.—Indictments for forgery and perjury against Dr. W. G. Gillette and for forgery and filing false statements against Robert A. Granniss, both former vice presidents of the Mutual Life Insurance company, were returned by the special grand jury which has been investigating insurance affairs for the past six weeks. The indictments were returned to Justice Scott, in the criminal branch of the supreme court, when the jury went before him for dismissal, having ended its labors.

Six indictments were found against Dr. Gillette, five for forgery in the third degree and one for perjury. Mr. Granniss was indicted for forgery and for making false statements to the insurance department, the latter being a misdemeanor.

Both defendants immediately surrendered themselves and were admitted to bail. Dr. Gillette in $10,000 and Mr. Granniss in $5,000, their cases being put over until the first Monday in September.

The forgery indictments against Dr. Gillette are based upon alleged false entries in the books of the company, and the perjury charge grows out of testimony before the grand jury. The forgery indictment against Granniss is based upon alleged false entries upon the annual report of the Mutual for 1904 to the insurance department. It is alleged that the sum of $1,044,053, the net profits of the company for 1904, was not noted in that report but was concealed by Granniss. The misdemeanor charge of making false statements grows out of the filing of the alleged false report to the insurance department.

The first indictment against Gillette recites that while vice president of the Mutual on May 4, 1904, he caused to be made in the book of the company known as the blotter a false entry that $4,500 had been paid to the firm of George McKibben & Son for advertising, when as a matter of fact neither that sum nor any other was paid to McKibben & Son. The second indictment charges that on the same date a fraudulent entry of $20,601 for printing and stationery was made, when as a matter of fact only $12,701 was paid. The third indictment charges that on May 11, 1904, the defendant made a false entry in the cash book indicating the payment of $6,387 for advertising, when only $2,876 had been spent for that purpose. The fourth indictment charges that on May 4, 1904, the defendant caused to be entered in the blotter a fraudulent entry that the sum of $3,400 had been paid to C. E. Parsons for stationery and printing, when no sum had been so paid. The fifth indictment charges that on May 11, 1904, a fraudulent entry was made in the blotter that $3,511 had been paid to George McKibben & Son, when no sum at all had been paid. All five of the indictments charge forgery in the third degree.

This victory, it appears, was won in a masterly manner. The news from northern Guatemala shows that the revolutionists organized under General Barillas, the former president of Guatemala, have captured Ocos and Ayutla.

A man named Heterson, who claims to have caught Boyd in the act of setting a fire, is also held as a witness.

Yesterday's game at Wehrle park was one of the longest games of the season and lasted but eight and one half innings at that. There seemed to be that lack of ginger which made the Sunday affair here so interesting to the eighteen hundred fans who saw it. However, the Monday event broke just right for the Newark bunch and when the last man was retired the score stood 7 to 6 with Newark in the lead.

J. Percy Stetler, the genial manager of the Outlaw bunch, was a wee bit worried at the commencement of the bombardment of Pitcher Rube Bowers and well he might be too for Newark pounded that worthy gentleman for six safe hits and scored seven runs on their play. Once Percy sent another pitcher out behind the grand stand to warm up him arm and then he ordered Rube out of the box but for some reason unknown Big Rube failed to respond to the beckoning finger and continued to pitch the game. He seemed to understand that his erratic work would not continue any longer and soon settled down. It was too late however, for he had already lost the game and it was far gone to pull out of the fire.

That is just what the Nocks pretty nearly did though and it was only the timely withdrawal of Silent Man Stone that prevented the game from going by the board and being stowed away in Percy's inside pocket.

Stone worked well for three innings. During that time he allowed but one hit. Then came two bingles and an error in the fourth frame and even that fooling let in but one tally. Still it had the desired effect on Stone and in the next period, the fifth, he went bad right.

Bob Lindeman started the business which was Stone's undoing. He was the first up and his caper was to send a long hit to right center and took three bases on it. Tibbitts tried hard to do the same stunt and nearly scored the man on a single, but Markle's mit was in the way and the drive counted for naught. Murphy was there with the necessary bingle however, and it went to the same spot sought by Lindy's triple and Murphy rested on Wratten's corner. Anderson was next with a hit and Murphy scored. Andy took second on Winter's pass and scored on Smith's single. In throwing the ball around, Reagan muffed it at second and Smith again rested on third. Rudolph hit safely, scoring Andy and stole second. Stone recovered however, and struck Rube out and made Pinkney hit to Davis.

Stone started the sixth inning by allowing Hagan and Lindeman to hit safely. The derick was applied to Stone and he was pulled out and Fink.

a new man secured from Cleveland, was sent in. That was where the Nocks late was sealed. He struck out Tibbitts and the two following men hit to the infield and were retired at first. After that the game was safe for Newark. Bowers was working like a big machine and Fink proved an unsolvable enigma to Stet's men. The first three men up in the seventh were sent back in order. Pinkney took one in the ribs and was sacrificed to second by Hagan. Lindy fanned and Tibbitts' long fly was roped in by Drake. Anderson was the only man to get a hit off Fink and he was out at second on a felder's choice which gave Smith a life on first. Fink started to throw the ball to Markle but that gentleman was not on the bag and Umpire Franklin called a balk sending Smith to first. Two were out though and Rudy Rudolph hit to Davis and died, ending the game. Three Newark men faced Bowers in the sixth, seventh and eighth inning, making it an easy proposition for him. The score:

In Mexico the law against smoking in theaters is so strictly enforced that recently the entire personnel of a theatrical company were arrested and fined for smoking in one act of a performance of "Zaza."

After experimenting for some years the local authorities in Colorado have decided to clarify the statute before allowing it to enter the Rhine by means of seven or eight with a mechanical crushing attachment of rotary wire brushes.

PRES. MOSER ENTERTAINS

Ball Players at His Home With Royal Good Time

FRANKLIN NOT TO BLAME

FOR HIS EFFORT TO CLEAR PRESS BOX AT SUNDAY'S GAME

New Players are Putting Up Great Ball—Morton Says Don't Roast Umps—Base Ball Dope.

The ball players who are members of the Newark ball club were busy Tuesday morning in sounding praises for President Joe R. Moser of the baseball stock company, for his ability as an entertainer. Mr. Moser invited the bunch to his home in West Newark Monday evening for an evening's entertainment and a lunch. All the players were there. In addition, every member of the company was on hand to take part in the evening's enjoyment and help get away with his share of the refreshments.

Mr. Moser's good wife was also there, and it was probably due to her charming efforts that the appetites of the ball players, always so good, were sharpened keener than ever for that occasion. There were speeches and music and music and more speeches. There were piano solos, violin music and cornet music. In fact there was nothing left out that would make the evening one to be remembered. City Solicitor Frank Bolton acted as master of ceremonies.

No Blame For Franklin.

It has developed that Umpire Franklin was not to blame for that effort to clear the press box at Sunday's game. It seems that he received his instructions from the members of the baseball company not to permit any but press representatives in the press box. There have been occasions when the reporters have invited friends to the press box, but the company says "get it out." Umps Franklin was only carrying out the instructions given him by the baseball company. The scorers do not care for the order, except that the press box is so big and roomy that it gets rather lonesome up there, especially if the game drags.

New Men Stars.

Second Baseman Boyd, who has been playing in the outfield since Snyder has been out of the game, is still in high favor among the local bugs. Keegan on second is also a warm favorite and both men should be retained. That new pitcher, who by the way, is Frank Fink, also showed up well in that Monday's event. The main friends of Silent Man Stone were disappointed in the showing he made yesterday as it was hoped that he would work nicely after the several weeks of rest. He was pitching great ball until the fifth, when two triples and three singles broke up the meeting. Two singles in succession in the sixth was his undoing and he was pulled out. Fink managed to get away with the game, allowing but one hit.

Where Was Rafferty?

While talking along the line of baseball officials it is not perhaps out of the way to remark that the ever popular "Fog Horn" Rafferty was not in the game at Zanesville yesterday. The Zanesville paper in speaking of the fact says that Jack was unable to appear.

Mr. Morton Requests.

The Advocate's sport writer has received a communication from President Charles Morton in which he very courteously asks that the papers over the circuit refrain from mentioning the umps in special stories. Mr. Morton says that if this plan is followed he believes that this aggravating umpire question will be more easily handled. He even requests that the officials not be named for their good work. We suppose he thinks that if they are not named for their good deeds there will be no desire to roast them when they are bad. The idea is a good one, and really does a good deal to clear up the confusion of the player, for their mistakes, even though those mistakes are bad.

Umpire Franklin.

By the way, speaking of Umpire Franklin, the speaking of Umpire Franklin is a subject who has officiated at the local crowd is better fitted for the job than the little gentleman who worked Sunday and Monday. He is thoroughly familiar with the rules and has made several interpretations of close plays and unusual occurrences on the diamond which have stood the test though no precedent had been established. Franklin has the honor of having been commented by Umpire Silk O'Laughlin as being one of the cleanest and best posted umpires out of the big leagues. President Morton made a hit in appointing him. He was somewhat in error on strikes and balls Monday, but like ball players, he is susceptible to mistakes. There was no apparent effort, however, to even things up. Of all the contemptible things in an umpire, that is the worst.

Joe Doyle.

Joe Doyle has been playing ball at an awful clip since he was cut loose from the local bunch and picked up by Zanesville. Joe's friends will be glad to hear it, but still it is better for him and for the club here too, that he made the change, for he is playing better ball and hitting better than he would if he had stayed here. That is what his friends like to see. There are a few others on the local team who might benefit themselves and the team, too, by making just such a change.

Some Circus Stunts.

There were several plays of the sensational order in yesterday's game which made the bugs real "buggy." Drake and Danny Davis were on hand with their usual circus stunts. The crowd did not miss any of these features and when Shortstop Anderson pulled down Danny Davis' hit and kept that gentleman from going to second, the climax was capped.

Mayor a Charitable Rooter.

Mayor McCleery is a really charitable rooter. No man makes a mistake that he doesn't make a very clever excuse for the man. He is the last one to condemn a player. The mayor is frequently the guest of the scorers, and no feature of the game escapes his attention. He leaves all business matters at the office when he goes to the ball game. One man tried to talk business to him, but he was cut off as politely and concisely as possible, so the mayor wouldn't miss any of the game.

Youngstown Given the Game.

HOW DID "23" ORIGINATE?

When came "23" that popular slang synonym for "get out." "You have reached the end," "quit," etc? This numerical phrase has no application, and if anyone attempts to trace the origin he will find the derivation credited to many incidents. Members of many callings claim the honor of giving the diminutive to an eager world.

It is a companion to "skidoo" and is frequently used in conjunction with that equally expressive word, although when you say "23" you mean "skidoo." "Skidoo" is authoritatively asserted to be a western expression which was used first on the cattle ranges of the southwest by cowboys and Indians.

It was declared to be a contraction and popularization of the old phrase, "skeddadle." "Skidoo" and "bushwa," the latter a term of derision used to convey the same comment as "hot air," drifted east from the plains along with other terse expressions.

The origin of "23" is involved in mystery. One says it refers to the twenty-third verse of Genesis, where Adam got his walking papers from Eden. Another finds its birth in the twenty-third horse being ruled out of the Suburban, there being room for only twenty-two. Another says it began in stage circles, when the actor who had been overlooked by the ghost twenty-three times in succession knew that he was discharged. Some have said it was a signal sent by telegraph operators to indicate a death. Others believe that it originated with a gang of thieves, or bunco men, who when they had their victim felled would scatter at the magic "23" pronounced by the leader. None of these explanations is authoritative and each is as good as the other, and all are meaningless as the expression itself.

Strikers to Fight Eviction—Will the Miners Desert?—Doing of the Coal Operators.

(Bulletin.)

Dillonvale, O., June 12.—The striking miners are still firm and the operators of the district are unable to open their guarded mines. This morning Supt. Hornickel of the Hanna Coal company, received a letter, notifying him to leave town on the first train, that he is a marked man.

At Plum Run the strikers are in an ugly mood over the eviction notices served yesterday, but the union's officials are preventing any demonstrations.

At Moore's Run mine, running non-union, last night a guard shot at Policeman Frank Burke when the latter was trying to disperse a crowd of strikers. The policeman arrested the guard who was followed to jail by an angry crowd.

Dillonvale, June 12.—An occurrence at Bradley today seemingly of little consequence may resolve itself into one of great magnitude before matters are concluded. The wife of a striker was taking coal from a flat car, a custom ever since the strike inaugurated, when a company guard told her to desist. She refused and slapped the guard's face, whereupon he retaliated by choking and kicking her and otherwise abusing her. The miners, greatly incensed, went after the guard, but the authorities hustled him to Smithfield jail, pending trial tonight. Excitement runs high.

Dillonvale, O., June 12.—One hundred and forty of the striking miners at Bradley and Plum Run were served with notices of eviction by constables. The strikers have retained counsel and will fight eviction in the courts.

The failure of the Hanna Coal company to induce the strikers to return to work has aroused the officials to renewed vigor, and plans are now progressing to start the mines with non-union help. The officials claim that the attack of Sunday night, when 50 shots were fired by strikers at the tipple house, intimidated the men who intended to work. Sheriff Vorhees was appealed to by the Hanna company for protection, the declaration being made that the lives of its officials and those who are willing to work will be in danger after the mines are put in operation, and that the property is in danger of destruction. Superintendent Hornickel and assistants say they have a number who will work, and in order to protect them from interference on the part of the strikers representatives of the company will accompany each workman. The Bradley mine has closed and the strike-breakers transferred to Plum Run, where little progress has been made.

A big demonstration was held by the strikers at Barton, and all declared allegiance to the organization. A Bohemian who attended the meeting tried to influence some of the men to return to work. He was roughly handled and thrown into a water trough. After he gained consciousness he was given 30 minutes to leave town.

Will Miners Desert?

Denver, June 12.—A letter was read in the convention of the Western Federation of Miners from coal miners of Ohio, offering to desert the United Mine Workers of America and enter the Western Federation in a body. The letter stated that at a mass meeting held May 27 at Dillonvale, O., it was decided to ask the Western Federation to take them in. It was further stated that all the coal miners of Ohio and West Virginia were ready to make the change of allegiance. The proposition was submitted to a committee.

Doings of Operators.

Columbus, O., June 12.—At the conference here of stand-pat operators of Ohio, John H. Winder, president of the Sunday Creek Coal company, was made sole agent of the operators to deal with strikers. He will take charge of any further negotiations, and whatever settlement he may make will be consented to by the other operators.

WHITE PLAGUE

Accepted by a Los Angeles Judge as a Cause for Divorce—An Important Decision.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 12.—Because her husband is suffering from tuberculosis Mrs. Charlotte T. Scammell was granted a divorce by Judge Borda in the Superior court. The woman is also allowed to resume her maiden name of Boyle.

Miss Charlotte Boyle was well known in social circles previous to her marriage to Scammell. According to evidence brought out yesterday Scammell was closely interrogated by his sweetheart previous to the marriage regarding his physical condition. Mrs. Scammell says her husband denied at the time that he was tubercular, but that shortly after the wedding the disease developed. They were married in Los Angeles December 27, 1907. The decision is regarded as of great importance.

BOSS OF GANG KILLED BY TRAIN

W. L. IRVINE STEPPED OUT OF
THE WAY OF ONE TRAIN IN FRONT OF ANOTHER.

Remains Taken to Granville—Deceased Was For 16 Years a Railway Man.

Granville, O., June 12.—W. L. Irvine, boss of the gang of men engaged in building a third railway track west of Outville, was instantly killed by a Pan-handle train Monday afternoon, west of Kirkendall's crossing.

Mr. Irvine stepped from one track to another to allow a train to pass and did not hear or see the Pennsylvania freight that was running in the opposite direction.

The deceased was about forty years of age. He came originally from South Carolina, but for the past sixteen years has been engaged in doing railway work at various points over the country. The body was brought to the undertaking establishment of J. M. Jones here and an effort is being made to learn the whereabouts of some of Mr. Irvine's relatives. It is probable that burial will take place in the Granville cemetery.

Coroner Marriot was called to investigate this case. Little is known of the man. Nothing was found on his person and as he received no mail there is little means of learning who and where his relatives are. The coroner has therefore ordered that the remains be buried Wednesday.

THIRD WIFE

Found in the East by a Bellefontaine
Business Man—"It's Hard to Be a Bachelor."

Philadelphia, June 12—"It's hard to be a bachelor," said J. L. Lockhart, aged 65, of Bellefontaine, Ohio, yesterday noon, a few hours after he had taken to himself a third wife.

"There is nothing like living in the same house with a good, kind woman," he continued.

Lockhart, who is a retired foundryman of that city, is now the hero of three love affairs. His first wife died in 1897 and his second in 1902. After being a widower for four years he was yesterday married to Mrs. Ruth A. Wood, aged 50, of 4104 Powellton avenue, likewise a widow, her husband dying 23 years ago.

Mrs. Lockhart blushed like a June bride when asked by a reporter for the details of her marriage. She tried to stammer something, but her daughter, Miss Maud Vernon Wood, came to her assistance, saying, "Now, mother, you'd better just 'fess up and tell the truth."

Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart were married by Rev. Dr. John D. C. Hanna, of the Centenary Methodist church.
